

Title: C#, .Net developer

Skills: C#, ASP.Net, SQL Server, Stored Procedures

Location: St. Louis, MO

Area Code:314

Tax Term: Full Time

Pay Rate: TBD

Length: TBD

Travel Required: none

Description:

Performs product design, bug verification, release testing, and beta support projects requiring research and analysis. Develops, tests, supports, and modifies customer business application systems and database systems. Documents all systems designed and modified.

Duties and Responsibilities:

Minimum Skills/Experience

- * Bachelor's degree in computer science or related discipline or equivalent plus 5+ years of experience
- * Experience in carrying out the requirements, design, development, testing implementation and support phases of applications software project
- * Considerable experience with developing for Windows NT/2000 environment
- * Experience building n-tier client-server applications
- * Extensive experience with object oriented programming
- * Advanced use of SQL and Stored Procedures
- * 1+ years of experience working with C#
- * Web development using ASP.net and C#

- * Performs complex product design activities, which may require extensive research and analysis.
- * Performs design, implementation, and maintenance of complex, multiple product modules and systems.
- * Performs complex bug verification, release testing, and beta support for assigned products.
- * Researches problems discovered by QA or product support and develop solutions.
- * Conducts unit testing and integration testing for functionality.
- * May serve as a product architect or assist in design and implementation and documentation of development of product.
- * Provides assistance and routine consultation to users in the development of systems and software.

Technical Responsibilities

- * Accommodate demand by users, setting priorities when appropriate and escalate issues.
- * Collaborate with team members to review functional requirements and translate them into a system design.
- * Assist Project Managers in developing implementation plans, including the scheduling of project milestones.
- * Identify Out of Scope issues and assist Project Managers in securing contract amendments before continuing work on such issues.
- * Be responsible for the functional integrity and proper operation of all assigned systems.
- * Collaborate with programmers and Product Development Team in the design of all assigned systems; maintaining design and development standards.
- * Keep technical skills and knowledge of technologies and service offerings current

Professionalism

- * Accurately communicate project development status to Management.
- * Attend weekly team meetings.
- * Maintain the highest level of integrity, courtesy, respect, and professionalism while interacting with, project team members, employees, and business contacts.

* Provide timely, detailed, and accurate accounting for all time charged to each project.

Requirements

Bachelor*s degree in business, software engineering or computer science and six to nine years of technical experience in software design and product support. Requires thorough technical knowledge in software development methodologies, design and implementation, excellent analytical and design skills at multiple product level, excellent skills in research and analysis, project planning and implementation, and understanding of entire development process, including specification, documentation, and quality assurance.